NO ACTION ON CROSSING ELIMINATION UNTIL COM'R FENNELL RECOVERS

Cook Presented No Evidence in Objection at Hearing---Coykendall Objection Is Not to General Plan--Latest Suggestion Is That City Pay Lump Sum and Pro Rata Share.

Owing to the illness of Commissioner Fennell, the hearing on the Broadway crossing elimination Wednesday afternoon in Albany was before Commissioner Kellogg. Mayor Canfield appeared for the city and Harry D. Flemming for Edward Coykendall, whose objections were set forth in The Freeman on Wednesday. The Hon. Andrew J. Cook did not appear in person but sent a letter elaborating on the protests he made a week ago. Mr. Cook having stated that he did not desire to submit any evidence, there were no other appearances, it being supposed that there was nothing further to do. As final action would have been deferred anyway until Commissioner Fennell could give it his attention, the objection made by Mr. Coykendall did not cause any delay.

Opposed Only Damage Clause.

Mr. Flemming contended that the amount of property damage was uncertain and the city should not be made liable for any part of it other than the proportion provided by the law and that an agreement so to do was illegal. He made it very clear that he was not opposing the eliminating of the crossing nor the plan for the elimination, but that he was only opposing the city assuming more than the law provides it shall assume of the property damage.

Mayor Canfield recited the numerous hearings held and the fact that everybody had been invited to come in and make suggestions or objections, and expressed the opinion that this objection should have been made earlier.

Mr. Flemming said it was only a few days ago that the proposal to limit the joint liability for property damage to $125,000 had come to his attention.

$125,000 An Expert Estimate.

Mayor Canfield said every effort had been made to ascertain the amount of property damage and it was the judgment of all concerned that $125,000 would fairly cover it. It was the opinion that the city is getting more than a mere crossing elimination; that in the widening of Broadway it is getting a city improvement. In consideration of this the city was to assume all property damages in excess of $125,000 which certainly could not amount to more than $25,000.

Mr. Flemming said if the city and the railroad were so sure of this, there was no reason to leave the city liable for an indefinite sum.

After the hearing had closed it was suggested that the city stipulate to pay a reasonable sum for the street improvement aside from the mere grade crossing elimination and that all other costs be apportioned as provided by law, thus binding the city to the payment of a definite sum in addition to its pro-rata share.

Commissioner Kellogg intimated that he doubted the ability of the city to bind itself except by formal action of the city authorities.

Such stipulations have been made frequently in cases where a city improvement is made in connection with a grade crossing elimination, but the commission could not make an order without this consent and in opposition to the protest of a taxpayer.

Mayor Answers Cook Objection.

In reply to a question from Commissioner Kellogg the mayor stated that the city has issued no new bonds in six years and has paid off more than $200,000 of old bonds. Outside the water bonds, which are taken care of by water rentals, the city's bonded debt is less than $400,000. Considerable have been issued for street paving costs and of these about $100,000 are outstanding. All assessments for paving in 1913 have been paid. The assessed value of the city is $15,000,000 and if assessments were at full value it would be $25,000,000. Among debts paid in the last six years was one of $68,000 that dated back to the Civil War.

B. S. Voorhees, chief engineer of grade crossings for the New York Central Railroad, briefly reviewed the plans.

Commissioner Kellogg said there seemed to be nothing left but the question of law raised by Mr. Flemming and this would be taken up by Commissioner Fennell as soon as he was able to do so.

This closed the proceeding

HELPS FOR YOUNG ARMY ESSAYISTS

Here are ten reasons why the United States army presents opportunities to young men for improvement and advancement, that contains valuable suggestions for school pupils who intend to enter the essay contest on Friday:

1—Good Pay and Money in the Bank

Because you get food, clothing, living quarters, medical and dental attention free. The present rate of pay starts at $30 a month—mostly profit. Can your present job show you this profit? It means money in the bank, if you are thrifty.

2—Life in the Open Air

Because you spend most of your time out-of-doors becoming toughened and strong, browned by the sun, as fit as a fiddle and sound as a nut. You sleep well, eat well, and feel well every minute.

3—Free Education

Because, while Uncle Sam gives you your living and pays you well, he also provides schools in which you can learn nearly anything, if you take advantage of your opportunity.

4—Free Training in a Skilled Trade

Because in the army are given opportunity to learn almost any skilled trade you can think of. Thus, when your enlistment expires, you have laid the foundation for success in life.

5—Character Building

Because there is nothing like army life to stiffen a man's backbone, give him courage, will-power, and respect for himself, his fellow-men and his country. The good soldier develops qualities of leadership.

6—Body and Health-Building

Because in the army you get a wonderful physical training. The outdoor work builds strong bodies. Athletic sports are encouraged. Skilful doctors look after your health, keep your teeth in condition and protect you against disease.

7—See Foreign Lands

Uncle Sam maintains an army in many parts of the world and you can choose where you would rather go. Alaska, China, Panama, Hawaii, and the Philippines.

8—Promotion and Advancement.

Because there is ample opportunity for promotion with increased pay to grades of corporal, sergeant and in the non-commissioned staff. Selected enlisted men are sent to West Point, many others are commissioned from the ranks.

9—True and Tried Friendships

Your buddies become your friends, staunch and true, fellows who stick to you through anything. You will form no finer friendships all your life than those you form in the army. The soldier's profession is honorable and respected.

10—Liberty and Recreation

Because you have ample freedom and many special privileges. You have club rooms to rest in, play athletic games, go to shows, meet agreeable people, including lots of nice girls. It's a great life!

SOVIET GOVT. A GIGANTIC AFFAIR

Their Opponents, Aided by Allies, Have Been Crushed—Making Peace and Extending Trade Relations—Have Strong Hold on People and are Starting Schools—Tolerance for All Religions.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 19.—The Russian soviet government at Moscow rules a population bigger than that of the United States and controls nearly one-eighth of the terrestrial surface of the globe. The Lenine-Trotzky regime has crushed the armies of General Yudenitch, General Denikine and Admiral Kolchak.

Soviets Crushed Opponents.

To the armies of Kolchak and Denikine the allies had entrusted the chief task of crushing the Bolsheviks and winning Russia back to the triple entente, but Kolchak has been put to death and Denikine's forces have been scattered and now control territory smaller in extent than the American state of Ohio.

That, according to travelers from the states bordering Russia, is the situation prevailing in the late czar's former empire tday.

The soviet republic has already made peace with Esthonia, securing an "all-the-year-round" sea outlet. Germany has opened negotiations with Moscow, according to official reports.

Poland is on the verge of making peace negotiations, it is reported, and England may open negotiations. Moscow already had peace feelers between the governments of the new states of Latvia and Livonia.

Bolsheviks in Complete Control.

Bolshevist authority now extends westward to the borders of Finland, New Poland and the Baltic States; northwards to the Arctic, except for a slice of territory around Archangel; southward to the Black Sea and Persia, and eastward to Lake Baikal and Mongolia, although a Bolshevik faction controls even more of Siberia.

Pre-war Russia does not exist from any standpoint, however. Russia has been in a state of flux for upwards of two years, putting forth the ripened fruit of generations of revolutionary teaching and literature. The Bolshevik regime has a powerful grip upon the population in the territory it controls.

The peasant is more apathetic to a red movement than the city dweller and the worker, but the apportionment of farms and the abolition of the tenant system has been a strong influence to bring the Moujiks into sympathy with the Moscow government.

Soviets Trying To Restore Wreck.

Travellers report a grave scarcity of food in the cities, but a substantial plenty in the country. The transportation system has been badly shattered and the factories are suffering from a general break-down and lack of raw materials, but the Soviet government is attempting to remedy this situation by securing the services of outside technical experts and by resuming trade relations with outside Europe. Since it came into power, the Soviet government has devoted much attention to education and schools are being established in parts of the country that never had heard of them before.

The wireless system is being utilized for the dissemination of news, although newspapers appear regularly in the city. Radio stations have been installed all over the territory held by the Soviet and every day news in bulletin form is sent out from Moscow. Street railway traffic is kept up in the main cities and the people are clothed just as they are in the capitals outside of Russia, although materials are very high in price.

Religious Freedom.

The Bolshevik regime has inaugurated religious tolerance throughout the territory it controls.

The upkeep of the great red army has been one of the biggest questions of the moment. The securing of war supplies has been a comparatively easy matter, however, as vast stores of guns, rifles, ammunition and clothing were captured from the "white" armies. A large amount of these supplies had been sent to Russia by England and France to help the anti-Bolshevik forces.

Other troubles of a similar nature are reported from Liguria.

AUTO SHOW SOON HERE TO BE BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

On March 25, 26 and 27 More Dealers and Accessory Men Than Before Will Exhibit Their Attractive Wares--Hugo To Open Show.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 25, 26 and 27, have been definitely settled on as the dates for the Kingston Automobile Show, "bigger and better than ever." And that phrase is not a mere collection of empty words, for there are now four more automobile dealers in Kingston than a year ago and every one of them will exhibit.

Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo, who has been invited to be the speaker on the opning date, told a Freeman reporter on Wednesday that he had accepted the invitation with the greatest of pleasure as he always likes to visit Kingston and would surely be on hand.

The automobile agents and the dealers in accesories have a strong organization, formed a year ago as an outcome of the 1919 show, and this committee is working hard to make the 1920 show a success and bigger and better than ever

MUST CUT ROAD REPAIRS IN HALF

Commissioner Greene's Request for $15,000,000 is Twice What State Revenues Will Stand, He is Told by Legislative Leaders.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Proposed repair of improved highways throughout the state planned for this summer will be cut in half as the result of the introduction today of the annual highway maintenance bill, carrying a total of $7,500,000, half the amount asked for this work by Frederick S. Greene, state highway commissioner.

Commissioner Greene said today legislative leaders had informed him the amount appropriated was all the revenues of the state would stand this year.

"I wanted $15,000,000 and I still want it," Mr. Greene said. "I asked for that amount because it is needed for the repair of the highways. The action of the legislature means that all repair work will be cut in half."

$1,000 LIMIT ON G.O.P. DONATIONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 19.—A drive to secure New York's quota of the $10,000,000 Republican campaign fund, was under way today. It is the hope of the party leaders to get thousands of small contributions rather than fewer large ones.

"The financing of the campaign this year," said Chairman Will H. Hays, "will be an open book. No contribution of more than $1,000 will be accepted."

One of the chief directors of finance will be William Boyce Thompson. He bitterly scored the "Democratic extravagance at Washington," and declared it was up to the Republicans to see "the Democrats never get a chance to spend any more public money."

WILSON REPLY SENT TO ALLIES

Position On Adriatic Question Said to be Unchanged and Language Firm—No Publicity For Several Days.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—President Wilson has completed his reply to the allied premiers' note on the Adriatic controversy. The president's reply was sent to the state department this afternoon for transmission to the allied governments.

The president's position on the Adriatic question remains unchanged, it was learned, and his note, completed today, was understood to be couched in firm language.

No information was given as to the length of the president's reply, but it is understood he dictated and completed the note this morning in his study.

With regard to making public the document in the Adriatic controversy, the president is said to favor such action, but the procedure in this event, would be to cable the allies first for their permission and it is understood this has been done.

It will probably be several days before the notes can be made public, it was said.

HOLLAND TO CARE FOR WILLIAM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The Hague, Feb. 19—Holland's reply to the allied note of January 20, regarding the former German emperor, which is expected to go forward to London and Paris within a short time, probably will put an end to the "Kaiser trial" negotiations.

According to the newspaper Dagblad, "Holland will sooner or later take her own measures against the danger of allowing the ex-kaiser to live too near the German frontier if he is permanently interned in this country." This was one of the dangers pointed out by the allies in their second note.

"London and Paris know that Holland is conscious of the fact that no conspiracy would be tolerated on Dutch soil that is directed against friendly governments," continued the Dagblad.

"Holland's first reply was too plain for doubt on that point."

The Rotterdamsche Courant believes that the second allied note is to take the place of all demands made in the original note requesting the surrender of William for trial.

It was said that, owing to the nature of the allies' second note, the Dutch government was having some difficulty in framing the text of the reply as the allied note was largely a condemnation of the ex-kaiser's war acts and an expression of surprise that Holland had not united in this condemnation in her former answer. Some officials express the belief that the allied note was intended "largely for home consumption."

GREENE'S PLANS CALL FOR MANY IMPROVEMENTS IN ULSTER COUNTY

Bridge Appropriation Bill Likely To Pass--Supervisors Must Acquire One More Piece of Property---Ellenville-Wurtsboro, New Paltz-Highland and Saugerties-Palenville Roads To Be Built This Year.

That the building of the Rondout creek bridge will in no way interfere with, delay or curtail other road work in Ulster county, was made very clear by State Highway Commissioner Greene to a Freeman reporter who had an interview with that gentleman in Albany on Wednesday. In fact, the bridge is scarcely getting its proportionate share of the highway funds apportioned to Ulster county, which is one reason why the appropriation asked from the legislature is so large.

Asked specifically by the reporter, "What will be done about the Ellenville-Wurtsboro road?" the commissioner replied, "That road will be built this year." Then he produced maps and records to prove his assertion.

The same question was asked about the New Paltz-Highland and Saugerties-Palenville roads, and the same reply given, backed up by maps and reports.

Furthermore, Commissioner Greene showed maps showing his intention to build the gaps in the road between Wurtsboro and Port Jervis, which will make a continuous and practically straight road from Kingston to Port Jervis, and other maps and plans for the closing up of the gaps in Route 3, the road along the west shore of the Hudson to the New Jersey line, which exist south of Newburgh, the contracts to be awarded this year.

As to the Rondout creek bridge, Commissioner Greene said 14 sets of plans had been sent out to prospective bidders and of these 14 he was very hopeful of receiving bids from at least nine. The appropriation bill he felt sure would be passed and at a conference recently held in Kingston by a representative from his office with County Attorney Eckert, Clerk DeWitt, Engineer Darrow and Philip Elting, on obtaining right of way, that matter seemed to be progressing favorably.

This matter is up to the board of supervisors of Ulster county. In order to make the Rondout approach to the bridge safe and allow room for the cable, it will be necessary to obtain one more piece of property.

Once the board of supervisors either purchases the property or begins condemnation proceedings, work can begin as soon as a contract is awarded. But, of course, a contract cannot be awarded until the board of supervisors has given assurance of the right of way.

It is hoped all these matters will be cleared up so that the contract for building the bridge may be awarded by March 8.

"I told you I was going to build that bridge or bust a lung, and I am, but I am not going to bust a lung. I am going to build the bridge," was Commissioner Greene's parting declaration.

USE OF ARMS UNJUSTIFIED EXCEPT BY WORKERS FOR EMANCIPATION

And No Strong Cleavage to Country In Socialist Doctrine Says Hillquit---Raps Wilson For Autocratic Conduct of Office---Martin Seeks Speedy End of Hearings.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19—America's doctrine of patriotism "my country right or wrong", has no place in the hearts of Socialists, never had and never will have, Morris Hillquit, leader of Socialist thought and conceptions in the United States, told the assembly judiciary committee this afternoon as an expert witness for the defense in the state's proceedings to oust five Socialist assemblymen.

"False American Patriotism."

The state's counsel injected into the proceedings the war program of the Socialist party adopted at the St. Louis convention, to show that there is at least an implied repugnancy between nationalism and internationalism in the Socialist concept. They read the language of that program, which in substance declared the Socialists against the "false doctrine of American patriotism" and for "the ideal international working class solidarity."

"You believe in national patriotism?" queried Martin Conboy, of state's counsel.

"We do not believe in the false doctrine of national patriotism," responded Hillquit.

"We do not believe in the maxim 'my country right or wrong.' We think that is an immoral doctrine."

Would Decide In War Time.

No matter how wise, how omniscient or no matter how great the [illegible], Hillquit declared, the Socialists could not agree to the war time slogan, "stand behind the president."

"We do not believe in that doctrine," he said "because we believe in a democracy such as the United States was at least until we entered the war, such a doctrine has no place. We believe that the founders of the country the framers of the declaration of independence, the framers of our constitution, never for one moment thought that the time would arrive when more than 100,000,000 people in a period of the greatest crisis of its existence would [illegible] to their own judgment, its own views, its own hopes and its own rights and place it all in the hands of one man no matter how great, how wise, how omniscient he might be thought to be."

Such action, according to Hillquit Socialist belief is to be a doctrine of monarchs and autocrats.

Non Workers Like Want Secret

"So from this point" he continued, "we condemn what we call false patriotism a number of which phrases created and put in circulation very often by persons who have sinister ends to subserve."

Attempts of committee members to interject questions during the examination of Hillquit by the state brought sharp objection from Mr. Conboy and a quotation from Chairman Martin who said there was also perfect propriety in [illegible] the proceedings to a conclusion because of frequent interruptions of examination by committeemen.

Mr. Hillquit was also questioned as to what would justify workers taking up arms.

"The only struggle which would justify this action, I believe," Hillquit retorted, "is the struggle for economic or political emancipation. When the workers of the United States say they want a soviet government, that is the time for them to act."

War With Germans Not Defensive.

Mr. Hillquit flatly declared the position of the Socialists to be that the war with Germany was not "a defensive war."

Answering a question by Mr. Conboy as to the inclusion in the St. Louis manifesto of the warning against the "snares and delusions of defensive warfare," Mr. Hillquit said:

"It certainly was not a defensive war on the part of the United States. A defensive war is a war to repel invasion. If it had been—if there had been a threat of invasion—the Socialists would not have taken the stand in opposition to war. So far as the United States was concerned, it was not a defensive war."

Mr. Hillquit declared members of the Socialist party obeyed the letter of the law, while reserving the right to hold moral objections against it and to seek to end it as speedily as possible.

Mr. Hillquit next was led into a discussion of the "freedom of the seas," during which he contended that the orders of the German government to sink without warning all merchant vessels found within the barred zones did not constitute an invasion of the national rights of the United States but merely an invasion of mercantile or commercial rights, and did not constitute an offense to be met with war.

"Is there any such thing in your code as national honor?" Chairman Martin broke in.

"Surely," Mr. Hillquit retorted, "but we would not consider the endangering of commercial interests in a war between third parties an invasion of national rights."

Mr. Hillquit also declared he did not consider the sinking of merchant ships by submarines off Cape Cod, which, according to Mr Conboy, "practically were based" on American soil, a cause for war. He had the same answer for the Zimmerman attempt to stir up war between Mexico and the United States.

SERVICE MEN'S TAX EXEMPTION

Numerous inquiries are received by collectors of internal revenue from men in active army or navy service regarding the exemptions to which they are entitled in the filing of income tax returns. Soldiers and sailors, as such, are not exempt from the tax, but the law specifically exempts that portion of their income received as compensation from the United States up to the amount of $3,500 in any taxable year. This exemption is in addition to the personal exemption of $1,000 and $2,000 allowed single and married persons and applies to a person of either sex in active service in the military or naval forces.

It is limited to the compensation received during the war, termination of which will be fixed by a proclamation of the president. The $3,500 exemption applies only to compensation received from the government and not to income earned or received from outside sources.

Quarters furnished an army officer is compensation and their fair rental value must be considered in a claim for the $3,500 exemption. Such amount in the case of officers whose compensation for the taxable year was more than $3,500 must be included in the return, and is subject to the tax.

The return is for the calendar year.

Persons who left the military or naval service during the year 1919 and whose income, other than the amount paid by the government equalled or exceeded $1,000 or $2,000 according to their marital status, must file a return on or before March 15. The tax is on incomes in excess of these amounts and may be paid in quarterly installments, the first of which must accompany the filing of the return.

Forms for reporting income may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

HANDLER TO SELL LIQUOR AT WHOLESALE

Strand Wholesale Dealer Receives Federal Permit to Handle Intoxicating Beverages—Can Only Sell To Others Holding Permits—Expects Liquor Stock Shortly.

Abram Handler of No. 52 East Strand, who was in the wholesale liquor business before the prohibition law went into effect, has received a permit from the federal government to sell liquor at wholesale and is having his place of business placed in shape to handle the business. His permit became effective February 10 but his stock of liquors has not been received as yet.

The permit obtained by Mr. Handler gives him permission to sell intoxicating liquors for other than beverage purposes to others holding permits which confer authority to purchase and use intoxicating liquors for non-beverage purposes.

Mr Handler stated today that he will carry a full line of liquors including whiskey, gin and brandy. He expects a stock of liquor to reach Kingston within the next two weeks.

Under the prohibition law permits to handle liquor may be obtained by druggists, mercantile plants, and others, provided they furnish evidence that the liquor is to be used for medicinal purposes only. For instance if an industrial plant desired to keep a supply of liquor on hand in the factory for use in cases of sickness among the employes they would first have to obtain the necessary permit to do so. With this permit they would be able to purchase from a wholesale dealer holding a federal permit at least five gallons of liquor to be kept on hand for that purpose.

J. A. Costello & Company of West Strand have also applied for a federal permit but have not as yet received it.

INDIAN VOTERS AT NEWBERRY TRIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 19.—Picturesque testimony on how numbers of noble redmen of Michigan were induced to vote for Senator Newberry in the 1918 senatorial campaign may be given at the Newberry trial today, providing the blizzard raging in the state permits a train load of Chippewas to reach Grand Rapids.

Today was designated "Indian day" at the trial, and if the blizzard doesn't interfere, several aborigines from the north woods are expected to take the stand and tell what led them to cast their ballots for Senator Newberry.

Train Smashes Station.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sharon, Pa., Feb. 19.—Three trainmen were badly hurt, the Clarksville railroad station was wrecked and passengers in three coaches were shaken when a Pennsylvania railroad train was derailed at Clarksville, near here, last night. Two engines and three cars turned over. Guy Johnston of Erie, Pa., engineer, suffered internal injuries. A broken flange is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

No Enforcement Expensive.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—It is computed unofficially estimated that it may cost the government as much as $50,000,000 to enforce national prohibition, Senator Warren, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, declared in the senate this afternoon.

AN INCH MORE OF SNOW FELL

During the Night—Traffic Still Blockaded on Many of the Side Streets, and Street Department is Busy Digging Out From Under Big Blizzard.

The moderate weather of Wednesday gave rise to the hopes that the threatened storm would prove of rain instead of snow, but during the night the temperature gradually dropped below the freezing point and more of "the beautiful" began to fall. By 6 o'clock this morning an inch of snow had fallen. Throughout this morning the weather was blustery and snow fell.

The big blizzard, probably the worst since the famous one of 1888, occurred on February 5, just fourteen days ago, and the street department is still busy digging out from under it. Broadway has been placed in fairly passable shape, and a gang of men are now clearing Hasbrouck avenue. Some of the important side streets have also been cleared of the big drifts.

Judging from reports from all over the state, Kingston is one of the leaders in restoring traffic to nearly normal conditions, and this was due to the fact that Superintendent Van Keuren got busy the day after the blizzard in an effort to get the business streets and main arteries of travel open for traffic.

While no figures are at hand the big blizzard will prove one of the most costly that ever struck Kingston. Fully two hundred men and about fifty rigs have been employed daily in digging out from under the blizzard, and undoubtedly the daily payroll for snow removal has been between $600 and $1,000.

Lodge Ill. Treaty Moribund.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The treaty of peace with Germany has been laid aside by the senate. The voluminous document President Wilson brought from Versailles will be permitted to rest on the senate table for the present while senators wrestle with railroads and other pressing domestic legislation. Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, is confined at his Washington residence by a cold. The eyes of administration senators are fixed upon the White House. Both they and Republican senators are wondering what is going to happen next in the Fiume mix-up.

CHURCHES TO AID LONELY SHEEP SHEARERS OF WEST

The bleat of the sheep on the backbone of the continent calls men to the mountains. On high uplands from the Canadian border to Mexico, in lonely and inaccessible places, one of the most romantic examples of the country's migrant workers—the sheep shearer—is at his trade.

Unheard of though he is to thousands of his fellow workers, it was for him that the immigration regulations of three countries—Canada, the United States and Mexico—were modified during the war. This permitted freedom of movement to many hundreds of this strange craft, and the means of employment to thousands in factories and stores.

Yet, for all his importance in the ranks of the nation's great Marching Army of the Employed, what sort of life does this man lead? The migrant fruit picker, or wheat harvester, or farmhand, or lumberman often roams inland through cities and the congested spots of civilization. But the sheep shearer, by the nature of his trade, is cut off from such influences.

Through a survey of the nation's migrant labor now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, it is expected that for part of the year relief may be afforded through churches in outlaying districts. For social and other purposes these men, with proper cooperation by church bodies, could make use of many of the facilities without which they are doomed to a life of isolation.

Use Butterflies as Food.

Butterflies, which are very plentiful in Australia, are cultivated in millions by the aborigines and, separated from their wings, pressed into cakes and eaten.

Hobo Now Scorns the Breadline

Survey Made by Interchurch World Movement Shows That Even the Cheap Lodging House is Going Out of Business.

The old "bread line" is gone from its accustomed place in the cities. In the cities throughout the country huddled queues of men no longer wait to be fed. Their passing is a symbol of the passing of the hobo.

Everywhere, for lack of custom, the cheap lodging houses are being abandoned. Only a few old, decrepit men remain in the Salvation Army Industrial Homes. In Kansas City the once well-filled dormitories of the "Helping Hand" building are closed. In Lincoln, Neb., in 1913 there were 1,750 non-resident single men who applied for aid, while in 1918 there were only 138.

The hobo, the wandering worker who went to the jobs on hoof and lived by begging his annual bite, has been lifted from his old plane by the war. A study of the conditions of migrant labor is now being conducted by the Interchurch World Movement that it may lay the facts before the Protestant Churches of America, whose closer cooperation is its larger purpose. The study shows that the hobo has found a closer connection of jobs, a higher return for his labor. He has become almost a "steady" worker. He no longer needs his old refuges.

Beyond the reach of these agencies, he offers the Protestant Churches an opportunity to provide new means of influencing his life and maintaining his standards of living, and the Interchurch World Movement survey is determining how this may best be achieved.

Cat mothers homeless chick.

Dogs in Warfare.

Airedales are accounted one of the best breeds of war dogs. When the Airedale detects the foe he makes no fuss; he merely makes a bee line and silences his foe—that's sufficient for the human sentinel who immediately gets his dumb friend's silence to good account.

Value of Training.

The value of systematic physical training for executives is being recognized by industrial concerns throughout the country. It is well known that exercise for those whose work does not normally provide it makes for energy and adds less of time through illness.

PATRIOTIC ADVERTISING

The effective checking of a lynching mob by State troops at Lexington, Ky., is not the only indication of the growth of a progressive spirit in dealing with the race question and race relations in the South. Such a spirit is strikingly evident in a notable document reproduced in a full-page advertisement in the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. From this document, signed by ninety-two representative men, members of the industrial welfare committee of the Greenville, Miss., chamber of commerce, and addressed "to the public," are taken the following passages:

We * * * hold it to be self evident that the rational contentment, prosperity and progress of the laboring classes of any country or community are essential factors in the permanent prosperity and progress of such country or community as a whole. It follows that in our territory every proper policy and means should be adopted by the white race which look to the same encouragement of the negroes among us, regardless of class or condition, whether laborers or not, in their legitimate aspirations to the end that they may be made to realize a community of interest with the white people and may feel a well grounded confidence in our interest in their welfare.

This committee as a whole or any individual member of it, will give a patient and considerate hearing to any suggestion, proposition or question along the lines above indicated from any respectable negro of this community. This is an invitation to the confidence of the negroes of Greenville and Washington county, extended by this committee in behalf of the white people of the community.

Among those signing this statement and "invitation" are the mayor, the sheriff, members of the legislature, pastors of Protestant and Catholic churches, the editor of the local paper, bankers, manufacturers, planters, professional men and merchants. It appears that the entire influential white element of Washington county, Miss., in the center of the cotton producing district, is associated in what has been described as "a venture in practical good citizenship." It is not necessary to inquire into the leading motives of this movement, or to ascertain to what extent is involved the labor menace of the Northern migrations of negroes in recent years. It is sufficient to note that such a movement should not only have good results in Mississippi and the South but ought to be serviceable also in the North and West where so many violent anti-negro outbreaks have occurred.

The facts regarding the existing car shortage on the railroads have been well set forth by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota. According to his figures the roads as a whole added 120,000 cars on the average in each of the five years before the war. They retired about 90,000 cars per year, leaving a net annual increase in car supply of about 30,000. In the two years and two months during which the roads have been under Federal control only 100,000 cars have been purchased, while the rate of car retirement was even greater than formerly, due to the tremendous increase in traffic on account of the war. Those cars have been less than half those required to take care of ordinary replacements; in other words, there has been a net decrease of 100,000 cars during the period of Federal control. Mr. Kellogg charges that instead of getting busy and turning out cars, the Railroad Administration spent five precious months trying to standardize cars and locomotives. Meanwhile the cost of material went up, shops got busy on other work, and the cars were never forthcoming. What a striking parallel it is between the car situation and other projects of the Wilson administration, such as the airplane program. Instead of adopting designs of approved efficiency, ready to hand, production was sacrificed in a vain attempt to remodel entire industries.

Farmers who raise lima beans for market will be interested in the report of the Secretary of Commerce showing that the lima bean crop of Madagascar is now being harvested and that most of the crop will be shipped to the United States as several American firms have had buyers on the market to pick up the entire crop if possible." In view of the trouble the American farmer is having in getting help, perhaps he won't care much if lima beans are imported for a time from Madagascar, but later, when business has become adjusted to peace-time conditions, they may feel the loss of sales through importations of foreign products such as these.

WHY MATTHEWS OBJECTS TO PLAN

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1920.
Editor Kingston Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sir,

In view of the fact that we are recorded as objectors of the elimination of the Broadway crossing, I should like to explain our reasons for taking such a position.

An important objection to this elimination at the present time is that Kingston cannot afford to pay for the same. Our tax rate is now unreasonably high and we should not assume an additional liability of possibly $250,000. I admit the crossing is dangerous, as are all grade crossings, but the Broadway crossing no more so than other crossings in the city are, and danger could be almost entirely eliminated by the placing of a proper traffic officer at this crossing and compelling both railroads and people to obey the law which we believe has never been done.

As to the delays caused by the blocking of this crossing they are mostly due to the absolute disregard of the public rights by the railroads. I have probably spent more time watching this crossing than any other man in the city of Kingston during the past twenty years and the delays are largely caused by the absolute disregard of the people's rights. In many cases the crossing is held for the passing of two or three trains at a time which is entirely unnecessary, and in most other cases the real delay is due to the use of this crossing as a switching point which is absolutely an outrage upon the citizens of Kingston. This switching could as easily be done either north of the crossing or south of it.

Now regarding the subway proper. This if built will please the citizens of Kingston about as well as the beautiful black and white skunk pleased the city artist who thought he was catching a little affectionate animal. After he succeeded in catching him he was quite badly disappointed and was fully as anxious to get rid of him. In fact most of us are built that way, longing for something we think we want which is quite apt to be a sad disappointment if we are unfortunate enough to secure it.

The automobilist who is nearly always in a hurry to get through the city will be badly disappointed when he lands in the subway behind a heavy loaded truck and is obliged to wait until the loaded vehicle has passed out on low gear, or if it chances to be a horse drawn vehicle the horses have after a various amount of slipping and sliding and perhaps fallen down once or twice succeeded in hauling their load out on level ground again he will then probably find himself blocked at either entrance by more loaded trucks crossing directly in front of him which will be necessary to do in order to reach the New York Central freight station and various other places where heavy loads are handled, and without doubt the entrances to each end of the proposed subway will at once become so dangerous as to require traffic officers on duty during all business hours and which of itself will be least twice as expensive as to properly direct traffic over the present crossing.

Yours very truly,
FRANK B. MATTHEWS.

INCOME TAX MAN AT PHOENICIA

"Beware of the ides of March, lest they come and find your income tax return unfiled" said State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis in an announcement that he had instructed District Director J. PePuy Hasbrouck to post field men in Ulster county for the week of February 23rd. If you desire any information on the New York State Income Tax Law, place the following dates in your memorandum book.

Auditor Wm. M. A. O'Neil at the Phoenicia Hotel, Phoenicia, on February 23rd and 24th.

"With only three more weeks in which to file returns, and less than five per cent of the returns already filed, all persons who interview these agents during next week," said Mr. Travis, "can consider this important duty closed, and free their minds from the worry that their returns will not be filed before March 15th."

On account of the many places throughout the state to be covered by these agents, it will only be possible in exceptional cases to send an agent back to these villages during the collection period.

The comptroller urges all taxpayers to avail themselves of the assistance of these agents while they are in the villages. The agents are strong and anxious for work and many are complaining that they are not kept busy while working on these special assignments.

ACCORD

Accord, Feb. 19.—A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias J. Markle on St. Valentine's day in order to help Mr. Markle celebrate the reaching of the 87th milestone in his life's journey. His guests found that he still retains the jovial disposition for which he has been noted. The guests were most pleasantly served with refreshments by Mrs. Markle, who is but one year her husband's junior. As an article of interest they exhibited a home made table cloth which was made from flax which had been grown on Mrs. Markle's father's farm and which her mother had prepared for weaving by the several necessary processes. The occasion will not soon be forgotten by those fortunate to be present and they most heartily joined in wishing their host and hostess many more such happy birthdays.

The community sing which had been announced for Monday evening, February 16, could not be held on account of the very cold weather. The next sing will be held Monday evening, February 23. It is requested that a goodly number be present as there is some important business to transact.

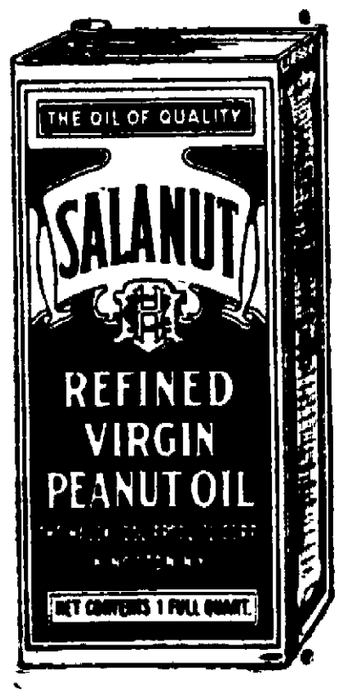
Art in Cooking

The pleasure in eating is increased by giving each dish a distinctive flavor.

In that way the French have developed cooking into an art. They supplement art by judicious selection and blending.



The most delicate dishes are prepared with oil instead of solid fats.

Sauces served with meats and vegetables must be different from those intended for fowl and fish.

Note the difference in their preparation and flavor.

For Meats and Vegetables:

1 tablespoon SALANUT — ½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour — 1 dash pepper

When the SALANUT is boiling, add the flour. Stir until blended. Then pour in milk or cream very gradually. Add the salt and pepper. Beat until smooth.

For Fowl and Fish:

1 tablespoon SALANUT — 1 cup milk
2 tablespoons flour — 4 stalks celery

Optimistic Thought.

Flu and Colds How They Can Be Prevented

Keep Well—Eat Wisely—Exercise Regularly—Avoid Persons Having Colds—Don't Worry.

KEEP AIR PASSAGES CLEAR.

Inflamed Air Passages Make Ideal Breeding Grounds For Flu Germs.

Flu This Year is Milder.

While we know very little more about the flu now than we did last year—the germ itself has never been positively identified—still most authorities agree that the flu germs are breathed in. If the system is in good shape and the membrane or lining of the air passages is in healthy condition—these germs are thrown off.

A good plan is to melt a little Vick's VapoRub in a spoon night and morning, and inhale the vapors, also apply a little up the nostrils several times a day, especially just before being exposed to crowds.

Treat All Colds Promptly

Above all, keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and make them real breeding grounds for germs. Prompt use of Vick's VapoRub aids in preventing colds. For head colds, sore throat or hoarseness, rub Vicks well over the throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. For deep chest colds, severe sore throat or bronchitis, hot wet towels should first be applied to the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then Vicks should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red—repeat as thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, so the vapors, released by the body heat, may be freely inhaled.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the lungs and air passages. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, thus aiding to relieve the congestion within.

Use of External Treatment For Colds Increasing

Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist who found how to combine in salve form, the standard time tested remedies, Camphor—Menthol—Eucalyptus—Turpentine—and to that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are inverted in the form of vapors.

Vicks is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used freely and often without the slightest harmful effects.

The best evidence of the value of Vicks is the steadily increasing number of people who have been convinced to be one of this "Quisside" treatment.

Two million and one customers of a single druggist did a store the year by year—in the state until now more than 17 million jars are used annually, and this in spite of the fact that Vicks is a new form of treatment as compared with pills, powders, liquids and sprays, and is sold in but one size jar, the 35 cent size.

"THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH"

New Paltz, Feb. 19.—A large audience attended the Tuesday night meeting of the Muir evangelistic campaign. The big chorus choir has been doing wonderful work and the music is a very attractive feature of the campaign. They sang, "What a Day of Victory," as a special chorus number. Song Leader Kauffman sang "Because His Name is Jesus," as the evening song sermon.

Evangelist Muir preached a stirring message, being at his best. 1 Cor. 9:22 was the text of the evening, "The Mission of the Church." The lost person is the one Jesus is most interested in. The church is the greatest institution in the world. The church will triumph in the end, but there's a lot to do first. The spirit of God must be allowed to direct. Its spirituality lost with a lot of churches. God must lead. Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners through repentance. Anything that interferes with your spiritual life is a sin. Sin will keep you from God. The church must hold up Jesus as the savior from sin. When the old greasy card deck comes into your home, Jesus Christ goes out. You mothers and fathers need to chum more with your boys and girls. What kind of an example are you setting before them? The live church is the one who goes out after the unsaved. What are you doing for the young people and boys and girls? We need people who know Jesus at the head of our churches. We need new blood there. "Jesus came to save sinners." God wants every sinner. If no one else loves you or wants you or cares for you remember that Jesus does. He'll come into your life and heart tonight if you'll let Him.

AT THE THEATERS.

"The Lost Battalion" at the Opera House—Bolshevism at Auditorium.

There are only two places to go now-a-days—to the photo plays or home, and even the best homes get a little tryin' at times. The pick of the very best pictures and what you have not already seen are coming. No matter how big or where they have been presented, Kingston has never yet missed any of the greatest productions made. "The Lost Battalion," a shot heard around the world when a Yankee told the Germans "To go to hell" on their demand for surrender, is a great education for the young as well as the old and without a doubt the daring deeds of the heroic boys of New York state who composed this division will be read in history for all time. Secretary Lansing says "The Lost Battalion" is unexcelled in human interest. Every surviving member of this battalion is shown on the screen. In addition to the photoplay, Sergeant Omer Hebert's Overseas Jazzophiends will appear in person presenting jazzy tunes that taught France to dance to the spirit of the A. E. F., the spirit that turned the tide of battle to victory. There are three performances daily at 2:30, 7 and 9 at the Opera House tonight.

Viola Dana in a comedy of laughter, "Please Get Married," a stage success for three years and now adapted for the movies, will be presented at Keeney's tonight and tomorrow. The screen version is spicy, but clean. Prizma, the natural colored photography, Paramount magazine and Gaumont news are added features tonight.

A Yankee Doodle photoplay dealing with Bolshevism, "The Red Viper," will be presented at the Auditorium tonight. Every labor organization will find something to think about in this dramatic exposure of the present day unrest which is now being brought to the limelight since the great world conflict. Americanism versus Bolshevism is the theme and Americanism triumphs.

Billy Allen and his big musical comedy will appear at the Kingston Opera House for one solid week, beginning Monday. In addition to a chorus full of excellent musical numbers, there will be many vaudeville specialties.

A Wail.

Oh, full and foaming sonsy glass
To the devil with them that hate thee pass
Yet deem not, as such parting sad
Shall dawn no memories dear and glad.

Some say on Ararat, thy seductive bubble
Got Ham's descendants into serious trouble
But I have read, that in the misty east
There were a merry guest, at Cana's wedding feast.

The scripture saith, that for his stomach's sake
A wise man, may a moderate hooker take
But now, since old John Barleycorn is slain
He mourns in secret and applies in vain.

When lights are lit, the smoking flamgnet spread
Where shall he turn, or who withhold be numbered
His doom is sealed, and now alas must he
Drink deep to absent loved ones, in cold tea

Oh, crowd of lingering memories, bittersweet
Oh, mercy friend, who never more shall meet
Oh, temple of hilarity, within whose open door
The gathering clans shall gather, nevermore.

ECHO FROM THE PALMER LECTURE

Rev. Vandermeer Takes Issue on Statements Made By Christian Scientists—Denies Givens's Assertions of What Creed Accomplishes.

Woodstock, Feb. 18, 1920.

Editor Kingston Freeman:

Dear Sir:—On January 25, Ezra Palmer delivered a lecture on Christian Science in Keeney's Theatre. This lecture was given considerable publicity. The papers which gave the report were distributed broadcast throughout this community. If it had not been because of the charge of a very extensive pastorate I would have asked you ere this to write just a few words on the other side of this question.

Having given space to the original lecture, may I now ask you to extend the same courtesy to a few words of mine calling attention to some of the statements made that afternoon which I think ought not to remain unchallenged. By doing so you will greatly oblige.

Yours very truly,
MR. VANDERMEER,
Pastor M. E. Church, Woodstock.

First let me say that I want to put emphasis on one statement I made in my introductory letter, viz., a few words. To say all I would like to would take more space than your columns could possibly afford, and so let me begin at once to call attention first to a statement in the introduction given to Mr. Palmer by Maurice Darius Givens of Kingston, N. Y., in which he said that "Christian Science is exact in statement, accurate in application, and it heals when all other methods fail." Mr. Editor it is this statement which I question, and not only question but utterly deny. Christian Science is not accurate in statement, for what do we mean when we say accurate in statement? If not that we use words to express our thought, and that we use the exact words necessary to express our thought? Now Christian Science uses words, but uses them contrary to their original significance, and never more so than when it discusses Bible facts. At the heart of the Christian religion lies the fact of salvation, not physical healing, and this salvation is made possible by belief upon the Lord Jesus Christ. Not as a way shower, not as an example, but as a savior. Now what has Christian Science to say about sin? "Sin is an illusion of mortal mind." In other words Christ did not come to redeem man from the fact of sin, but from the illusion. Now in the light of all Bible teaching, I ask if that is an accurate statement? Mind you I am saying all Bible teaching, not the gospels and a sporadic quotation, here and there from an old testament prophet, and N. T. apostle, but of all the Bible teaching from Genesis to Revelation.

Christian Science speaks of Christ as the great metaphysician, the first Christian Scientist, the pattern and example. But the Bible speaks of him as a Savior. "Thou shalt call his name Jesus for he shall save his people from their sins." Nowhere do the apostles refer to him as a teacher, or an example, though He is that, but only to those who have felt His saving power.

Time and space forbid me to enter in detailed proof of this statement. Let the reader consult his Bible, and look up Acts 4.12. First Tim. 1:15. Luke. 19:10. Romans. 5.10.

Now I ask you again is it right to say that Christian Science is exact in statement when it uses words in direct contradiction to the great text book of our religion? For to Christians in the New Testament sense of that word there is no need of binding a woman made book together with God's revelation, as given us in old and new testament. God's word is sufficient unto them, and they use the words of sin, salvation, and savior as they are used in His blessed book, and as they have been understood throughout the ages. Accurate in application Mr. Givens says. Accurate in application to what? To disease? Why does not Christian Science go to the leper colonies? Why not to the wards of contagious diseases? Why not to our numerous insane asylums? And above all why not to the hovels of the poor, and the places where havoc has been played with the moral destinies of man? Where are the drunkards Christian Science has reclaimed? Where the mission halls Christian Science has erected in the less favored parts of our cities? Where are the Hallimonds, the Hadley's, the Trotter's, that Christian Science can claim as the glorious results of its "accurate application." "And finally it heals when all other methods fail." I wonder what the results of that statement were upon the people who read it. People in this community who know how lamentably C. S. has failed, even in physical cases. I have been in mission work considerable time, have come in contact with men who were enslaved to the drug habit, and who had tried all human expedients. Could I say to those men, "My brothers, you are the victim not of the drug habit, but simply of an illusion? Your condition is not real. Simply believe that the drug has no power over you, and you will be free. Mr. Editor, I dare not imagine what the results would have been, but I know this, that by casting himself unreservedly upon the mercy of his atoning savior, and by calling on him to have his power conquer the sin, and keep him day by day in His strength, one of these men overcame the habit, and became the head of a rescue mission himself.

Christian Science Mr Givens says is capable of proof. Proof of what? Proof to whom? I think of that statement of Paul, "Take heed lest there shall be any one that maketh spoil of you through his philosophy and vain deceit after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after God for in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily."

What does C. S say? What are its statements? Christ was incorporeal whereas Jesus was a corporeal or bodily existence; a portion of God could not enter corporeal, mortal man. Neither could the fullness be reflected by him. God can only be reflected by spiritual incorporeal man. Now can that statement be proven in the light of Col. 2:9 "In Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily." God could not enter corporeal mortal man. Read verse 19 of the first chapter, "For it was the good pleasure of the father that in him should all the fullness dwell."

You see Mr. Editor, I have not touched yet upon the statements of C. S. in the physical realm. The danger of the system to Christian people is in the spiritual realm, and when we come to the citadel of our faith the honors of our King it becomes increasingly difficult to be calm.

Now coming to the lecture proper, in the nature of the case one has to be brief. "C. S. corrects the discrepancy between reality and practice. No matter what the testimony of the material senses may be as to the seeming reality of evil. C S holds firmly and logically and consistently to the eternal fact of the "omnipotent goodness of God." Now what does C. S. mean by the testimony of the material senses to the seeming reality of evil.

First God is all, then where do these material senses come from? If there is conveyed to men's consciousness a sense of evil what conveys it? Matter, Christian Science says, but matter does not exist. Then something which does not exist, conveys a seeing reality; conveys something which in turn does not exist.

I confess that when it comes to logic the following will be an excellent example. "Sickness and disease are due wholly to false belief of mortal mind" (C S. catch phrase). Is this mortal and necessarily evil mind a reality? If a reality whence does it come? It cannot come from God, for he is all good, and not evil. It cannot originate in man, for he is declared by C S, to be co-existent with God. If it originates neither with God or man, whence does it originate? If you say that it never was caused, and yet is a reality you say that it is un-begun, and therefore co-existent with God. To say this is to make something not good co-existent with God, and this would deny that God is all and God is good, but if God is all and all is good, and nothing is real but that which is good, then false mortal mind is not a reality, it does not exist, false belief, disease cannot be produced by it, and if false belief is not a producing cause of disease where is the argument of C S., that disease is made manifest alone by the false belief superinduced by mortal mind. I have taken this latter quotation from Dr. Haldeman's masterful book, "C. S in the light of Holy Scripture."

Now let us look at another statement in Mr. Palmer's lecture, "The healings of sin and disease are only the preliminary steps by which a man comes to see his real duty, his ideal is to understand God and to live according to it's eternal laws." Note the latter part of the statement, and test it to Bible teaching and to the use of grammar (above which Mrs. Eddy was highly exalted) when we speak of persons we use the pronoun his or her, when we speak of principle or abstract matters we use the pronoun it. For C. S., God it not a person but a principle. We do not pray to a father, but to a force. What does the Bible say to that? The Bible is not looked at through the darkened glasses of "Key to the Holy Scriptures," but illumined by the guidance of the Holy Spirit of God. Does it not teach that God is not an abstract force, but one who has intelligence, who knows and feels, and can anybody say that a principle knows and feels? And then is the healing of sin a preliminary, or, is it the great heart and center of the Christian religion? It was for the healing of sin that the O. T. dispensation was given, with its shadow of good things to come. When a man's sins areforgiven he knows God. For it is in this forgiveness of sin that God becomes manifest to him, first in his immaculate Holiness, second in his all conquering power, third in his gracious and all forgiving love. Mr. Editor if my time and your space allowed I would like to go through this lecture, and show you, that viewed in the light of God's word C. S., is not exact in statement, or accurate in application neither is it infallible when other means fail, or capable of proof, before the tribunal of God's oracles.

Let me close by quoting. "C. S fools Christians, who are more taken up with their body than with their soul, who know more about the word of man, than the word of God. It fools the unsaved because it substitutes the cure of the body for the salvation of the soul and makes deliverance of the body equivalent to the redemption of the soul. It fools the unsaved by assuring them that they are already saved, guaranteeing their security for a price current with the times" (Haldeman "Mental Assassination") and therefore I say watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation.

CATHOLICS GET LENTEN RULES

Service Men Have Wide Latitude In Observing Regulations Prescribed By Archbishop Hayes—Fish and Flesh At Same Meal Under New Code.

The Most Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, Catholic Archbishop of New York, through his secretary, the Rev. Joseph P. Dineen, has issued the Lenten regulations for the present year to serve as a guide for the faithful of the Archdiocese of New York of which Kingston is attached, during the forty days of fast and abstinence, which began with Ash Wednesday. In the new code of canon law promulgated two years ago by Pope Benedict the faithful will violate no law of the church by eating flesh and fish at the same meal.

Those serving in the army and navy are not seriously affected by this year's Lenten regulations and may eat meat on all days of the year except Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and the Vigil of Christmas. The lifting of the restriction on service men was first made in 1918 by a dispensation granted by the Pope, who did not restrict it to the duration of the war, but made it in perpetuity. There is nothing to prevent service men, however from observing the holy season as strictly as any other class.

The regulations stipulate that all the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday to noon on Holy Saturday, are fasting days of precept. Wednesdays, Fridays, by special indult, and Ember Saturday, February 28, are days of both fast and abstinence. On Sundays in Lent there is neither fast not abstinence.

The law of fasting ordains that only one full meal a day may be taken, either at noon or in the evening, with a small portion of food in the morning and a moderate collation at lunch or supper, according to the time selected for the principal meal. At breakfast a small piece of bread with a cup of coffee, tea, chocolate or cocoa may be taken. At dinner there is no restriction except that imposed by the virtue of temperance and the spirit of the penitential season. At lunch or supper flesh meat may not be taken but eggs and white meats are permitted.

On days of fasting and abstinence Wednesdays and Fridays and Ember Saturday, the use of meat and of broth made of meat is prohibited, otherwise the regulations are the same as on days of fasting only lrupping and lard may always be used in preparing food.

Excused From Obligations.

The church excuses from the obligation of fasting all under twenty-one and over fifty-nine years of age, irrespective of physical condition; all whose health would be seriously impaired or who would be prevented by fasting from properly performing their ordinary duties. Consequently, the ill, convalescents, persons with weak constitutions those whose work is of a laborious and exhausting character, women in delicate health or condition are not obliged to observe the law of fasting. Those excused or dispensed from fasting may eat meat at all meals on meat days.

The church excuses from the obligation of abstinence all children until the completion of their seventh year; all who by reason of sickness and enfeebled health cannot observe the precept. By a special indult granted to the Bishops of the United States, dated March 15, 1895, and since renewed, working people who cannot easily observe the common law of the church are dispensed from the obligation of abstinence, but not of fasting on all days of the year, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday in Holy Week, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and Christmas Eve. This dispensation includes not only the individual workingman in whose favor it is granted, but all the members of his family as well.

GET RIGHT WITH YOUR SON NOW

Is Admonition of J. W. Murray on "Tell Your Boy Day"—Secretary Bridges Speaks.

Today is "Tell Your Boy Day" in Father and Son Week. Just what the day suggests may best be gathered from the following statements issued by J. W. Murray of this city:

"Father and Son Week, a time set aside for us to get right with our boys, if we have not already done so.

"Have we as fathers realized our full responsibility for our sons?

"Are we fair to them with the advice that we give, and that which they are (sometimes) left to find out for themselves through bitter experience?

"Let us this week pledge ourselves to have a heart to heart talk with the boys in regard to the pitfalls which they will find in life's path leading to moral and physical ruin. Let no false ideas keep you from it. I do not believe fathers can start too early letting their sons know of temptations to be met with on life's journey, and talk plain, don't brush over certain subjects.

"One more thought I would bring forward. Would we not be a happier race if we thought more of the health and happiness that our boys could get out of life and less of the material things to be acquired?"

Friday Annual Banquet Day.

Relative of Father's and Sons' banquet day, Thomas A. Bridges, new boys' secretary at the "Y," says:

"Man is a social creature and enjoys the companionship of other men like himself. It is a custom of mankind whenever they are gathered together for a sociable chat and good time to have a repast before the parting. When folks are gathered around a table eating there is a spirit of sociability that is rarely duplicated on any other occasion. In the home the family enjoy the companionship of each other daily, the father, mother, son and daughter.

"On Friday evening the annual Father and Son banquet is to be held for the purpose of providing the men of Kingston who have sons, or who want to help some boy who is not so fortunate as to have a father, with the opportunity of meeting together for a sociable evening and a general good time. Dinners are being served at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Trinity M. E. and the Young Men's Christian Association."

Thomas Alva Edison, "the Wizard," celebrated his 73rd birthday February 11, by putting in a day's work in his laboratory in East Orange, N. J. In his private offices, when asked how he "felt at seventy-three" the inventor demonstrated his spryness by kicking a hat held shoulder high by his secretary. Mr. Edison commenting on the present discussion of possible communication with the planet Mars, declared that direct wireless communication with the planet is possible and practicable. Sir Oliver Lodge's psychic communications, however, did not convince the inventor. He declared that Sir Oliver's claims were not based on scientific principles. "In other words," added the inventor, "instead of basing his opinions on gross materials, on scientific experiments, he depends on another human being for his facts. A human being used in this respect is too uncertain." In this photo Mr. Edison is shown in his office with both his sons, Charles (left) and Thomas A., Jr. (right).

A Snow Storm In The Country.

It was February fifth—1920 the year—
It will always remain in our memories clear,
That we saw in the morning how all thru the night,
Old Winter had raged in his fury and might.

The wind—now it muttered a weird, menacing, growl,
Now it whistled and shrieked in a long piercing, howl,
It rattled the window panes, shook all the doors,
Threatened to rip off the roof and tear up the floors.

In a royal pitched battle the snow flakes whirled down
Like a misty white veil hanging over the town,
Soon, stone walls and fences were hidden from sight,
Covered up, as by magic, with a blanket of white.

"Sleep on, little Billy in bed you may stay,
For it's certain," said Mother, "there's no school today"
And Dad winked at May's doll perched on a stool,
For, when May stays at home—her dolls go to school.

No mail man or grocer need we look for today.
In this storm, they could not even start on their way.
Sister softly hummed something 'bout "roses in June"
And big brother grunted.—"Oh may they come soon."

So ended the fifth—the next day dawned bright,
Surely, seldom we see a more beautiful sight,
The snow seemed all crusted with diamonds rare
That sparkled and flashed in the clear, frosty air.

Toward five in the evening, lo! what should appear,
(Not the miniature seigh and the tiny reindeer)
But four powerful horses drew a long, open sleigh,
And three sturdy men—brought the groceries that day.

They started out from West Hurley about 1 p. m.,
That trip will not soon be forgotten by them.
Almost all the way over 'twas an unbeaten track,
One p. m. they had started—after 9 they got back.

Date of Christ's Birth.

The Christian era, first used by a monk, Dionysius Exiguus, in the year 533 A. D. and adopted by Christian nations at a later period, was intended to begin with the birth of Christ. Dionysius is believed, however, to have made an error in fixing that event in the year of Rome 754 instead of 750. Christ's birth is now considered to have taken place in or before the year 4 B. C.

DELAY OPENING TRUST CO. BRANCH

The central branch of the Kingston Trust Company on Broadway is being rushed to completion after some delay on account of the non-arrival of materials. It has been hoped that the central branch would be opened about the first of February but owing to the congested conditions which exist in shipping circles, material was delayed and it will be about March first before the building will be completed and ready for occupation.

At present the carpenters are busy installing the fixtures. This work will be completed by the end of the week and next week the painters will begin their work. The fixtures are being installed by men who are experts in that line, having installed the fixtures in several of the banks and banking firms of New York city. The branch, when completed, will be one of the best appointed banks in the city.

RAIL STRIKE TALK STRONGER

Would Occur Only After Government Lets Go—Engineers And M. of W. Men Only Unions Who Have Not Come Into Big Alliance With A. F. of L. And They Will Probably Do So.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb 19.—Talk of a general railroad strike after the railroads are returned to private ownership grew stronger today following the announcement that the railroad unions in the American Federation of Labor and the big brotherhoods have formed an alliance to operate as one big union, bound by a written agreement to act together on a general offensive and defensive program.

Alliance Long Needed.

"We have for years recognized that in our economic relations with the railroads that the injury to one is the interest of all," says the preamble, "hence, we, the chief executives of bonafide railroad workers of North America, hereby declare it our policy to co-operate in the adoption of a plan of offensive and defensive procedure to cope with the unprecedented conditions confronting us at this time."

The covenant sets forth this principle:

"That there shall be no authorized strike by any one organization unless all agree.

"In concerted action," said the agreement, "all ballots for such vote shall be jointly prepared and approved."

That when the parties to the agreement "are working in co-operation thereunder and extreme action has been decided upon," it shall be taken concurrently by order of the chairman and secretary of the alliance

That all matter, of policy and procedure affecting the general offensive and defensive program of the alliance must be acted upon by a regularly called meeting before any action is taken

Organization Bound By Its Leader.

That each organization signatory to the agreement shall be represented in all meetings of affiliated organizations by the chief executive or his personal representative and the organization shall be bound by the action of either.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Shop Laborers are the only organizations which have not signed the agreement. Warren Stone, head of the engineers, was not present at the conference which drew up the document, being in Chicago in attendance at the co-operative congress. J. B. Malloy, grand vice president of the Maintenance of Way Organization, representing Allen E. Barker, the president, withdrew from the conference because of the strict action of his union.

Both Malloy and Barker are expected to attach their signatures at the meeting to be held February 23, to consider finally the proposal for a wage tribunal.

MARTENS WOULD HAVE SOVIET HERE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—"Thirty per cent of the Socialists of Russia are opposed to the regime of Lenine and Trotzky," L. C. A. K. Martens today told the senate foreign relations sub-committee investigating Bolshevist propaganda.

"The prime minister, Mr. Lenine, can be deposed at any time by a majority of the soviet," Martens continued. "There is no term of office for the head of the government."

Wade H. Ellis, counsel for the senate committee, asked when the Russian government proposed to stop propaganda, "If the United States discontinued war on the soviet."

"About a year ago," Martens said.

"Is it not a fact this propaganda is still going on?" Ellis asked.

"I deny it, absolutely," Martens declared.

"I would like to see America Bolshevist," said Martens under cross examination. He denied, however, that neither he or his organization had carried on propaganda for the overthrow of the government.

MRS. KNAPP'S BOOM GROWS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 19.—All the material necessary for a big row at the Republican state convention to open at Carnegie Hall tonight was brought to the city this afternoon in the form of a full-fledged boom for Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, of Syracuse, for delegate-at-large to the national convention of the party in June. Ten counties representing 400 of the 1,001 to be seated tonight are already pledged to support Mrs. Knapp against the slate to be submitted by those in control of organization, according to the candidate's campaign managers. Some tall campaigning to enlist additional delegates for the "insurgent" movement were in evidence around the Republican state headquarters, at No. 46 Thirty-Ninth street, as the hour for the convention drew nearer.

Mrs. Knapp's fight for a place on her party's delegate-at-large list has been directed by State Senator Henry J. Walters of Syracuse and Frank W. Hammond of Albany, both of whom were on the scene early today lining up for the show down fight.

Middletown Druggist Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 19.—J. Erskine Mills, widely known as a chemist and druggist, died here today after a brief illness.

The Tarantula.

The scientific name of that American spider called the tarantula is eteniza Californica, and it is one of the trap-door spiders. It is common in New Mexico, Arizona and California. According to Kingsley this spider digs its hole in a fine soil which when dry is nearly as hard as brick. These spider holes are sometimes nearly an inch in diameter and vary in depth from two or three inches to nearly a foot. The mouth of the hole is enlarged and then closed by a thick cover which fits it tightly. That cover fits into the mouth of the hole very much as a cork does in the neck of a bottle.

Theophile Gautier.

Gautier was a great genius in his own way, and for 40 years was one of the interesting and conspicuous figures of the literary world. His stronger claim to fame lies in his unique gifts as a poet, represented by his masterpiece, "Emaux et Camees," a small collection of poems distinguished for their quaintness. "I am one for whom the visible world exists," is one of Gautier's celebrated sayings, and he reported his soulless images employed with a vocabulary famed for its rich resources, and a style remarkable for its faultlessness. He died October 23, 1872.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Feb. 19.—Price movements were mixed at the opening of the stock market today, with the price tendency generally to lower levels. Crucible Steel had a wide opening, ranging from 208 to 206¼ compared with 205½ at the close yesterday. Later the stock sold off to 205½. U. S. Steel advanced to 98⅝ while Republic Steel at 99⅝ and Baldwin Locomotive at 11⅜ both showed losses of ¾.

General Motors advanced 1½ at the start to 239, reacted to 236 but rallied to 239⅞. Studebaker dropped nearly 1 point to 87¾. Mexican Petroleum yielded 1 point to 173½. Pan American Petroleum after advancing 1¼ to 84¾, dropped to 83. Royal Dutch rose 1 point to 103⅛. There was a falling off in the demand for the railroad stocks.

Trading in the leading stocks during the forenoon was almost wholly of a professional character. Most of the traders were bearish and sold freely, while some others covered, causing moderate rallies, but the whole tone showed heaviness. The oil stocks were strong, Mexican Petroleum advancing 5 points to 17½ and good gains were made in the other oil shares. General Motors reacted nearly 3 points from its high of 239¾ and Pierce Arrow dropped one point to 53⅛. Steel Common fell to 98 and Republic Steel to 98⅛. Fractional losses were suffered in the rails.

The rails featured the afternoon trading, a demand for these issues causing substantial advances in all the rails.

The market showed an irregular tone, selling down during the afternoon and turning strong later in the dealings. Steel Common sold down to 97½ and then recovered to 98½ and rallies of 1 point were made in the other steel issues. The railway issues were active. New Haven advancing nearly 3 points to 30¾ and Southern Pacific nearly 2 points to 97. Mexican Petroleum, after selling down to 175, recovered again to 177 and Pan-American Petroleum rose 2 points from the low to 83¾. General Motors, after falling to 234½, rallied to 239.

The market closed steady; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

Clerk—"Why is it that I am so exhausted when night comes, do you suppose?" GREAT BRITAIN PLANS TO SALVAGE 1,000 SHIPS SUNK DURING WAR

Work Will Be Confined at First to Waters Surrounding the British Isles—Believed 1,000 Ships Lie at Depths Regarded as Workable—90 Craft, Including Lusitania, Regarded as Beyond Possibility of Rescue.

Official plans have been announced for the greatest feats of salvage ever undertaken, whereby, with the support of the British admiralty, attempts will be made to rescue from the sea 1,000 craft sunk by submarine or other destructive agencies in the war. Operations will be confined for the time to the sea area surrounding the British Islands. The work will be extended to the salvage of cargo as well as craft, and thus the money value of what may be saved can hardly be calculated, but it promises to be vast.

Modern methods are said to be equal to the task of raising any craft resting on bottom in not more than twenty fathoms (120 feet) of water. The admiralty figures that at least 1,000 vessels ranging in tonnage from 200 to 10,000 tons lie in waters of workable depth. Cargo can be recovered in still deeper water. Until within a few years divers did useful work at a depth of 182 feet, and that depth was long considered a maximum for their effective operations. Americans set a new record in Hawaiian waters after the war began by lifting a submarine from a bed more than 200 feet deep. If English divers can work at that depth their field of activities will be correspondingly enlarged.

Locations Charted.

The British admiralty has prepared a chart showing with close approximation the position of every sunken vessel between Dungeness, a headland at the southern extremity of Kent projecting into the English channel, and the mouth of the Tyne, at the North sea. It is said that as soon as the season for diving arrives it will proceed on such a scale that visitors to all the coast resorts will be able to get a glimpse of it and it will be one of the attractions of the season.

Small black dots on the chart indicate the positions of the sunken craft. The dots lie in strings and clusters. There are patches of them off Deal, and along the Suffolk coast, especially near Aldeburgh, the dots are grouped so closely that they look almost like a single blotch. It was in this stretch of water that the British navy destroyed or captured submarines, and the assailants often went down with their victims.

There is a close-linked chain of dots off the mouth of the Thames. Between Flamborough Head and Whitby, which is on the Yorkshire coast, the Germans for a time reaped a rich harvest, tailing off in a line running northeast into the North sea.

An indication of the rewards for salvage is instanced in the case of the steamship Tours, which was lifted off the Gower rocks, on the Glamorganshire coast, after the ship had been exposed to wind and weather for six months. The salvage men towed her into Swansea and got $400,000 for the feat.

No Present Hope for Lusitania.

Experts in salvage have never permitted themselves to count on bringing the Lusitania again to the surface, or even reaching any of her cargo, for she went down in forty-nine fathoms (294 feet) of water off the Old Head of Kinsale, on the southern coast of Ireland, and there has been no sign of her since she sank there early in May, 1915. The ship was worth $10,000,000, and she carried more than $800,000 worth of cargo, and those values have served to fire the imagination of the adventurous and the optimistic. The fact that she is not represented by a dot in the Admiralty list has not extinguished hope that improvements in modern methods may be stimulated by the prospect of the wealth that would reward such a recovery, or that perhaps the sea might carry her shoreward into workable depths.

It would be a miracle if the sea could lift the ship from her resting place, for the ocean bed there shelves steeply. At ten miles from shore, where the messages from the Lusitania indicated she was struck, sinking in twenty minutes, the depth is 294 feet. In order to move the ship landward a distance of five and one-half miles would need to be traversed up an inclined shelf of rock, to a depth of 240 feet, which would still be too great for divers. The 180-foot line is distant more than eight and one-half miles from where the ship went down, the incline still continuing steep, and it would be necessary to move nine miles from the sinking point, or one mile from shore, before a depth of twenty fathoms (120 feet) could be reached. Divers could go down there and rescue treasure, but they could hardly expect to move such a tremendous bulk as the ship to the surface from deeper water; and the sea is not performing uphill feats with such bulk. The sea bed is sixty feet deep half a mile from shore, indicating the precipitous nature of that part of the coast. More lives might have been saved and there would have been a chance of salvage if the master of the ship could have contrived to head her for shore and keep her afloat long enough to travel about nine miles, but even so she could have been beached only on the rocks.

A "Marine Cemetery."

Many other craft also found a grave off Old Kinsale. It is estimated that more than ninety craft of various kinds were sunk there, converting it into a marine cemetery. All of them, like the Lusitania, seem to be beyond resurrection until or unless invention can find a way to enable divers to descend to much greater depths than has heretofore been possible. So the admiralty is letting Old Kinsale alone as beyond practicable range for effectual operations in salvage.

Loss of the Lusitania deprived the Cunard Line of a wonderful ship in respect to capacity and speed, but it involved the line in no loss of money for construction outlay or cargo value. The English government assumed most of the risk and paid it, and the remaining value was covered by insurance in various English companies. The potential loss fell, of course, on the company, for such a ship would have been a most serviceable and profitable carrier for the remainder of the war.

Another serious loss to be reckoned as final, along with the Lusitania, was that of the Justicia of the White Star Line, 32,000 tons burden, which maintained a fight of nearly twenty-four hours with German submarines before she went down in deep water off the north coast of Ireland. She had been built for the Holland-America Line, and was taken off the ways at Belfast at the outbreak of the war and assigned under charter to the White Star fleet. On one of her early trips she carried 30,000 bushels of grain to Europe, and after this country entered the war she made frequent trips as a transport, carrying 5,000 men at a time. When attacked, in July, 1918, she was on a westward course, carrying no passengers, but with a crew of more than 600 men. At the first blow her captain decided he could proceed to an Irish port under the ship's own steam. He emerged without serious damage from a running fire with the original submarine. Then he encountered another submarine. The ship stood the shock of nine torpedoes before going down out of sight of land.

Lusitania and Justicia.

Although it may not be possible to salvage such famous crafts as the Lusitania and the Justicia the tasks in workable water are sufficient to keep salvage men busy for a long time. Great Britain lost in the war by official figures computed to last March—four months after the armistice—8,043,744 gross tonnage. The ship values at $200 a ton were estimated at $1,808,748,800; the cargo values, at $100 a ton, at $904,374,400; the property, money and lives, insured at $10 a ton, at $90,437,440; the earning power, at $7.65 a ton per month, $1,340,331,217, making a total for ships sunk of $4,143,891,857. Repairs for damages cost $452,187,200 and earnings lost during repairs were $69,184,641, making the loss in damages $521,371,841, or a grand total of $4,665,263,698. Probably at least half the loss for ships sunk occurred within workable distance of the coast. If the proportion were one-quarter the rewards for salvage would yield fortunes to successful salvage men.

The established companies are perfecting their equipment, and foreign companies will be as ready and eager to enter the field.

Other totals of losses for ships sunk and for repairs were distributed as follows: United States, $469,276,245; other allies and neutrals, $2,639,044,515—making the world's grand total $7,773,584,458. Salvage work naturally will be undertaken wherever practicable.

Authentic records of salvage show that from a depth of 182 feet a Spanish diver, Angel Erostarbe, recovered $45,000 in silver bars from the wreck of the steamer Skyro, sunk off Cape Finisterre; Alexander Lambert saved $350,000 from the Spanish mail steamer Alphonso XII, sunk in 162 feet of water off Las Palmas, Grand Canary, and W. Ridyard recovered $250,000 in silver from the Hamilton Mitchell, sunk off Leuconna reef, China, in 130 feet.

COON TRAP LANDS EAGLE

Bird With Eight-Foot Wing Spread Caught in Connecticut.

An American eagle having a wing spread of nearly eight feet is in captivity at the farm of Byron Stratton at Hartland Hollow, Conn., having been caught in a trap.

Stratton set the trap near his spring for a raccoon. The eagle, caught by one toe, put up a stiff fight and tried to bite Stratton when he released it from the steel jaws after fastening its legs with his belt. He has offered the bird to the City park of Springfield, Mass.

Love Note Admitted as Will.

One of the queerest wills ever admitted to probate in San Francisco is a love letter, written by Harry J. Heine, a San Francisco artist, to Carmelita Cadogan, his fiancee. The letter was written by Heine two weeks before he fell in action in France. In it he expressed the wish that all he owned should go to Miss Cadogan in the event of his death.

Theodore's Bright Idea.

Theodore was fond of olives, but his father had forbidden him to eat them. At dinner one day, during his father's absence, a large dish of olives had been placed near Theodore's plate. He looked at it longingly and said: "Mamma, let's play a joke on daddy and eat some olives."

Ancient Perfume.

It seems strange to read of saffron as a perfume, but such it was almost universally, and an element of "romance" about it lies in the story told by Hakluyt of a pilgrim smuggling at the risk of his life, from the Levant, a head of saffron in a hollow made in his staff.

GREEK HISTORY AND ROMANCE

Combined in Masterly Way in Dr. Cady's Illustrated Lecture—The World's Debt To Schlieman For Actual Discoveries of Greek Art.

Those who were so fortunate as to attend the lecture on "Greek Art," given by the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady at the First Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening listened to one of the romance stories of the world as well as to historic facts full of interest, and saw some remarkably fine lantern slides. Few people, unless they have made a special study of the subject, have the faintest idea of the romantic history of our present knowledge of Greek art. This Dr. Cady made very plain. He recalled how during his own college days he was warned to consider the poems of Homer as mythical, even the writings of Herodotus, the historian, in the same vein.

Myths Often Based On Fact.

Then he showed how, as the result of the excavations carried on under Schlieman and later searchers in the ruins of Greece, it has been learned that the so-called myths and poetic fancies were after all founded on fact. For instance he showed the actual pictures of the palaces of King Midas of "The golden touch." Showing the country of Greece and the nearby islands to be rocky and sterile, not at all remarkably picturesque in themselves, Dr. Cady expained that the wonderful atmospheric conditions, the vivid blue of the sky and the rare brilliancy of the waters, made the country ideal indeed to the artist and the lover of color.

The history of Greek art as unfolded by late discoveries was so described and pictured as to be full indeed of interest and charm.

One unusual feature noted by the lecturer was the minute detail with which the Greek artists carried to perfection their masterpieces in bronze, ivory, gold and marble, very often colored, and holding its color in that climate and atmosphere. The Greeks were past masters of the art of using optical delusions so as to create before the eye a perfect piece of workmanship no matter on how great a scale. No matter how considerable the perspective, the height, or the angle of the finished architecture or piece of sculpturing it was so carried out as to appear as though immediately before the eye of the beholder, and perfect at that.

Hard To Tell Masters' Work.

While undoubtedly a vast numoer of the pieces of Greek art, whether complete or fragmentary are "originals, which is which cannot be learned as almost without exception the bases of the pieces of statuary and the figures themselves have been separated by the masses of debris that have accumulated, covering the cities to great depths. One thing was known that the art masters did their work in bronze while the students worked in marble.

Pictures of several of the most noted Greek cities were shown and described vividly by Dr. Cady. Another interesting fact disclosed, was that while the early Greek writers as well as those of a later date, spoke of the paintings of their artists, not one single fragment of such paintings has been, thus far discovered, and this phase of Greek art is considered a lost art indeed.

Schlieman Began In Grocery.

Almost as remarkable as the accounts of what has been brought to light, for instance the several cities of Troy, built one upon the other, was the story of Schlieman, the excavator, once a boy in an American grocery store who, becoming fascinated with the poems of Homer, resolved to some day visit Greece and, if possible, learn for himself how true those poems were. Finally becoming possessed of a fortune of sufficient size, he was enabled to fit out an excavating expedition, and it is due very largely to this one persistent man that we know what we do today, from actual discoveries, of Greek Art.

The audience expressed itself individually, last evening, as regretting that the lecture so soon came to an end, so full of romance and historic interest did Dr. Cady make it.

FALKNER FREED AT MONTESANO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Montesano, Wn., Feb. 19.—The defense in the trial of the I. W. W., charged with the murders at Centralia on armistice day, opened its case today with the first real victory scored on its behalf.

As court closed yesterday, Federal Judge Wilson presiding, ordered Bert Falkner, the youngest of the eleven prisoners, to be set free. The court held that the evidence adduced against the prisoner had been insufficient to warrant its going before the jury.

The directed verdict was asked by the defense attorney in behalf of all the prisoners, but Falkner was the only one set free.

The defense will commence taking testimony today.

INSURANCE RECORDS

Are Broken—Many are Investing for Families' Protection.

Notwithstanding the current stories of wasteful spending on the part of those who are receiving more money than heretofore throughout the country, the experience of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as set forth in its annual statement, published today, indicates that a greater number than ever are saving money and investing it in life insurance for the protection of their families. The company broke the record for new insurance in 1919, the total being $1,418,681,492, and of this more than $500,000,000 was Industrial, the small policies on which the premiums are paid weekly. Group insurance, which is a comparatively new branch of the business, where employers take policies covering their employes, reached the total of nearly $122,000,000.

ONE WOMAN G. O. P. ALTERNATE

On Compromise Slate of Unofficial Convention—Republicans Get Down to Real Business Friday—Root, Senators and Thompson "Big Four."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 19.—With tranquility apparent on the surface and several incipient fights brewing beneath it, Republican leaders and followers from all over the state gathered here today for the unofficial state convention, which will be opened by Elihu Root in Carnegie Hall tonight.

The party managers were hopeful of getting all disagreements and kinks ironed out in informal conferences today, so that when the convention really gets down to busines tomorrow, everything will be harmonious.

It is expected that the slate for the delegates-at-large to Chicago next June will go over without a hitch. On it are Elihu Root, Senator Wadsworth, Senator Calder and William B. Thompson. The alternates are Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, of Westchester; Thomas B. Dunn, of Monroe; John F. O'Brien, of Clinton, and either Charles S. Whitman or Charles Anderson.

The selection of Mrs. Livermore was in the nature of a compromise between the supporters of Miss Mary Garrett Hay and Mrs. Florence E. C. Knapp of Syracuse. The fight may be carried to the convention floor, although strenuous efforts will be made to prevent it.

Object to Du Pont Claim Re-trial.

The City of New York, by Corporation Counsel William P. Burr, has filed with the county clerk of Ulster county notice that it has appealed to the appellate division of the supreme court from the order made February 7 by Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck in special term of the supreme court, and entered February 9, appointing Frank J. LeFevre of New Paltz, Dillon B. Humphrey of Wawarsing, and Charles R. Hall of New York city, commissioners of appraisal in the matter of the claim of the E. I. duPont deNemours Powder Company against New York City. The above named were appointed by Justice Hasbrouck to re-try the deNemours claim, as a previous award made by a commission to assess damages to property was set aside by the court of appeals as being excessive. Van Etten & Cook are the attorneys for the company, claimants.

It is also expected that the proposed taxicab ordinance will come up for action at that time.

A wedding ring was found in the stomach of a cod caught on the Grand Banks. The ring belonged to Mrs. Pauline Burnham, an English woman, who had lost it when the steamship Anglo-Saxon went down in 1861. NAT'L DAYLIGHT SAVING UNLIKELY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Daylight saving agitation is abroad in congress, and an effort is to be made by eastern congressmen to revive the law in effect during 1918, which turned the hands of the clock ahead one hour between the last of March and the last of October.

Representative O'Connell, of New York, has introduced a bill for daylight saving which re-enacts practically the former law. It is receiving the support of most of the eastern members and members from the Pacific states.

Congressmen from the middle western states and the south are opposed to the law and it is not likely that the heavy majority against the measure can be overcome.

NEW WORLD PROGRAM DEVISED BY CHURCHES

By S. EARL TAYLOR.

DR. S. EARL TAYLOR.
General Secretary Interchurch World Movement.

If Christ, on the day He was born, had started on a tour to preach in every village in India, He would still have 20,000 more to visit.

We now believe we have found a way by which the leaders of the Protestant churches can sit around a common table and have the Christian program of the entire world laid before them. By means of the Interchurch World Movement we can see where the Methodists are, and where the Baptists are. We can see the general outline of their forces, their present status in this great world struggle, and may also have some idea of the unoccupied places, and what may be done by all of us to enter these unoccupied parts of the world field which Christ sent us to occupy.

George Eliot and Her Heroines

To each of George Eliot's heroines she gave a daily companion—usually sister or cousin—who is plainly intended to serve as a foil. These foils are all of the ordinary type with dull intellects and selfish hearts; but they remain wholly unconscious of limitations in themselves. Discerning no good beyond worldly advancement and no use for any faculties save those of the practical managing sort they are convinced of their efficiency and good sense. Always pretty and attractive, they represent the Philistine in the land. For narrow natures like these the social world exists.

Quits Cathartics—Internal Baths Relieved Permanently

Mr. Joseph A. Weis, Hotel Vendome, Washington, D. C., write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"On the 15th of June, 1915, I purchased a 'J. B. L. Cascade.' The results it has produced are simply marvelous. For 20 years I used cathartics, but have used nothing but the Cascade for almost a month. I feel like a new man; I want to be pleasant to everybody. Before I used the Cascade I was a grouch. Did not like anybody and could not be pleasant."

If you bathe internally with the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable. Poisonous waste in the lower intestine makes us bilious, blue, dull and nervous. Internal baths are nature's own cure for constipation—just antiseptic warm water properly applied. Drugs force nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

It is the invention of Charles A. Tyrrell, M. D., of New York, who specialized on internal bathing for 25 years, and will be shown and explained by McBride Drug Store, Inc., 293 Wall street and 634 Broadway, Kingston, who will also be glad to give you free on request an interesting booklet, called "Why Man of Today is Only 50% Efficient," which covers the subject in a very thorough way.

Clip this out as a reminder and ask for the booklet the first time you are in the neighborhood.

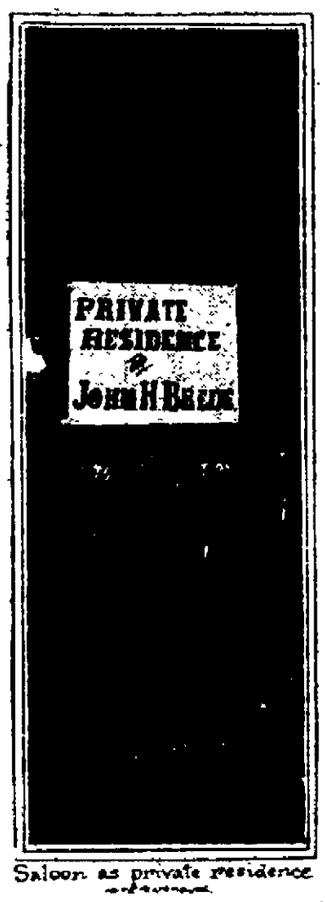
COFFEY FIGHTS SAPPER COHEN

Officials of the Kingston Athletic Club have received word from Sapper Cohen that he is willing to box ten rounds with Vincent Coffey at the smoker to be held in Griffiths's Hall on lower Hasbrouck avenue, Thursday evening, February 26. The other ten round bout will be between Benny Coster of this city, and Willie O'Toole of Albany, both bantamweights.

As it will cost some real money to stage these two bouts the club officials have announced that the bouts will not be held unless two hundred membership tickets are disposed of the coming Saturday. These tickets may now be obtained at Edward Cashin's auto accessory store on the Strand, at Dulin's on central Broadway, or of any of the members.

Without question these two fights should prove to be the best ever pulled off by the local club. All the fans know what Coffey can do, and there is no question but he will have to put up a classy article of fighting to defeat Sapper Cohen, one of the best men of his weight ever seen in action here. Coster is too well known to need any words of commendation, while O'Toole is one of the fastest bantamweights in the capital district.



Saloon as private residence

But is his cafe his home? John H. Brode of Brooklyn, N. Y., thought so, and therefore hung out the home sign shown on the door. Revenue officers, however, differed with John and seized 1,500 bottles of wine and then took Mr. Brode to the police station. Brode asserts he will fight the case in the courts.

COOK'S CLIENTS OFFER REASONS

For Not Wanting Broadway Crossing Eliminated—Burden to Taxpayers, Labor and Material Costs and "Irreparable Damage" to Business Interests Among Many Objections—Minor Remedies Suggested.

February 17, 1920

Hon. Thomas F. Fennell, Public Service Commissioner, 58 North Pearl Street, Albany, N. Y.

Honorable and Dear Sir:

On Wednesday, February 11, I appeared before you as attorney for certain property owners in the vicinity of the Broadway crossing of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley Railroads in the city of Kingston, concerning which crossing there is now pending before you a proceeding for its elimination. On my request as such attorney for said interested parties, you granted an adjournment in the proceedings to February 18 for the purpose of enabling my clients to present to the commission evidence of some other plan for the elimination of the crossing, than that now under consideration by you to protect the traveling public at that place.

No Further Evidence.

At a meeting of the parties for whom I appeared in this proceeding, held at the city of Kingston yesterday afternoon, I was instructed to write you and say that they are not prepared to offer any evidence of any other plan or scheme at this time to safeguard public traffic at the Broadway crossing as it now exists in addition to the evidence now before you, the objections made by me in their behalf on Wednesday last and such additional suggestions and objections as are contained herein:

It is their unanimous opinion that the plan of eliminating said crossing by lowering the gade of Broadway so as to carry traffic under the tracks of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley Railroads should not be approved, and the application of the mayor and common council of the city of Kingston for an order of necessity and directing the elimination of such crossing in the manner proposed should be denied for the following reasons, viz:

Benefits Unequal to Costs.

1. That the cost of the elimination of said crossing by lowering Broadway and carrying traffic under the tracks of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley Railroads at Broadway, in the city of Kingston, N. Y., is so great and the burden upon the taxpayers of the city of Kingston will be so heavy that it is not to the interests of the people of the city of Kingston to incur such expense at this time and the benefits to be derived by the execution of such plan are inconsiderable compared with the tremendous expense the execution of such plans will entail.

2. That the cost of material and labor is unusually high and much greater than at the time of the adoption of the resolution for the elimination of said crossing by the common council of the city of Kingston and the presentation of the petition to the Public Service Commission of the Second district, state of New York.

No Danger to Trolleys Now.

3. That the stopping of the trolley cars at the Broadway crossing pursuant to the order or request of the Public Service Commission, has already eliminated all danger to that kind of traffic at said crossing. That from the evidence now before you it appears that there have been but few accidents at said crossing to pedestrians and vehicles other than trolley cars over a period of many years, and that it is the belief of my clients that all danger to the traveling public at said crossing can be prevented, either by the stopping or slowing down of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley Railroad trains approaching said crossing from the south or by stationing a policeman on each side of said crossing to regulate traffic over said crossing.

4. That the damage to property and business interests along Broadway fronting on that part of the street proposed to be lowered is irreparable, will be continuous and incapable of adequate compensation.

Loss to Business.

5. That the value of the central section of the city in the vicinity of said crossing for business purposes will be generally, permanently impaired and in some respects entirely destroyed.

6. That a plan providing for the carrying of pedestrians under the tracks of said railroads on either side of Broadway by the lowering of the sidewalk alone would greatly eliminate danger to the traveling public, and the stationing of traffic policemen on either side of said crossing to direct the vehicular traffic would be ample protection to such traffic.

7. That the lowering of Broadway so as to carry traffic under the tracks of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley Railroads at said crossing commits the city to a plan that will compel the adoption of a like plan of elimination as to the six other crossings of said West Shore Railroad in said city, rather than a plan which could be adopted at due time to eliminate all of the grade crossings of said city by requiring the lowering of the tracks of said railroad.

8. That the tax rate for the city of Kingston for the present year will be the highest in its history, approximately $45 per thousand.

Question Commission's Power.

9. That the commission is without jurisdiction to grant the order asked for by the city of Kingston herein.

10. That the plan proposed places an unjust, unequal and unfair burden of the expense of eliminating said crossing upon the city of Kingston and is contrary to the provisions of section 91 of the railroad law of the state of New York.

I would respectfully ask that this letter be placed on file as supplementing the objections of my clients to the granting of the order asked for in this proceeding, and that it receive your consideration before passing upon the application made to the mayor of the city of Kingston on Wednesday last, for an order on the plan to lower Broadway, now before you.

Respectfully submitted.
ANDREW J. COOK.
